SERVICES

3E Waste Management

As part of the 3E OnCall service platform, 3E Waste Management services are provided on an as-needed basis or by establishing a regular schedule. 3E handles thousands of hazardous waste projects each year, including hundreds of projects resulting from emergency response activities.

3E negotiates the best possible contract with a single pre-qualified hauler for pickups on pre-arranged dates. 3E coordinates the entire process, including the waste pickup, transportation, disposal of at a designated TSDf and reports to appropriate federal or state agencies.

3E Waste Classification

As part of the 3E OnCall service platform, 3E's Waste Classification service provides assistance with the identification and classification of items that may be regulated as hazardous waste at the federal and state-specific level. 3E's solution streamlines and takes the guesswork out of the process of identifying and classifying hazardous waste.

One of the critical components of a successful hazardous waste management program is accurately and consistently identifying and classifying items regulated as hazardous waste should they require disposal. Once the hazardous waste items have been identified, processes can be put in place to help ensure the proper handling, storage and disposal of these materials. Based upon the customer's chemical inventory, 3E provides waste classification data and information through a comprehensive review of the manufacturer Material Safety Data Sheets

On an as-needed basis, customers are given step-by-step assistance with identifying and classifying their waste and proper temporary waste storage on-site. 3E tenders bids from pre-qualified contractors for each hazardous waste pickup. The bids are reviewed and the project awarded to the contractor based on capabilities and cost.

(MSDSs) and a meticulous process of determining the appropriate federal and state-specific waste codes and descriptions for a customer's products should they become hazardous waste. 3E's classification includes review of both listed and characteristic classification criteria on a Federal level, as well as for all 50 States across the United States.

3E's waste classification data can be supplied in the form of customer report, data file or data feed of classification information directly into a customer's corporate system, enabling the customer to reduce data management costs by providing a centralized repository for classification data to be shared with the entire enterprise. 3E maintains data provided by monitoring for changes to hazardous waste regulations or manufacturer-supplied MSDSs and providing updates on an on-going basis.
